

TSSS
THE SOUTHPORT SCHOOL

Archives

*Did you know? The focal point of the grounds at the Preparatory school is the ten tonne, three metres high statue entitled: Transient Spirit. This sculpture is the work of local artist Graham Radcliffe (a nephew of former headmaster J.N. Radcliffe), and represents, according to the sculptor, the '...transient spirit that is within each of us.' The sculpture was set in place during the September holidays in 1995, being lowered by crane onto a specially designed plinth. The sculpture is made from Carrara Bianca marble and mounted on a natural marble rock from Val d'Osserie. Radcliffe had been commissioned to complete the work by the St Alban's Festival Committee.*
