

Recognising the importance of a bequest

Support received from Old Boys, Families and Friends of TSS are greatly valued, as the lasting legacy of this commitment in naming The Southport School as a beneficiary in their Will has a significant effect on the education provided now and into the future.

The Southport School bequest programme is open to and acknowledges with sincere gratitude, the past students, staff, parents and friends who have made provision for TSS in their Wills. With this new initiative to establish The Bishop Dixon Guardian Trust, gifts left the TSS are now dedicated towards the Endowment Fund corpus, guaranteed to remain secured and invested for use in perpetuity.

Old Boys and Friends of the School are invited to consider joining The Dixon Society through provision of a written confirmation of their intention to make a bequest to the School. Those who are invited to join The Dixon Society will receive complimentary invitations to a range of special events throughout the year, VIP seating at designated home sporting events as well as opportunities to meet with the Headmaster and prominent Old Boys coordinated through the Office of the Director of Philanthropy.

* The Dixon Society also named after the School's founder and longest-serving Headmaster (1901-1929), Horace Henry Dixon, is a recognised group supporting the vision of the founder and leaving a legacy for The Southport School. As a tribute to Bishop Dixon's vision and leadership, it is also a significant and fitting way to recognise the special contribution of those who have decided to leave a legacy in their Will, for the benefit and surety of future generations being educated at The Southport School.
