

Why make a bequest?

Since Horace Henry Dixon first searched for funds to establish his vision of an all-boys boarding school, fundraising has been of the utmost importance to The Southport School. Around 17,000 past and current students as well as the generations to attend in the future are beneficiaries of the philanthropic support gifted to TSS for over a century.

Details on the schools strong philanthropic history can be found at <http://philanthropy.tss.qld.edu.au/tss-philanthropic-projects/more-info/>

Making a bequest allows you to make a gift without diminishing your current assets, and may enable a more significant contribution than otherwise possible. You may also nominate how you would like your bequest to be directed. Benefits are also available to members of the Bishop Dixon Society and can be discussed with the Director of Philanthropy.

When you nominate The Southport School as a beneficiary in your Will, you leave an enduring legacy that provides a surety for important projects advancing education and resources at the school. Bequests will play an increasingly significant part in the School's future development and the Dixon Guardian Trust serves as another reminder of our history and the benevolent foresight of earlier generations.

Leaving a legacy such as a bequest, is a wonderful and rewarding way to not only provide surety for this great school, but offer you the satisfaction of supporting the holistic education TSS offers in perpetuity.
